

Manchester
Metropolitan University

Multicultural Studies

Irish Lives : Shapers of Ireland

A programme of evening lectures

Tuesday, March 16, 2004

SS Patrick and Colmcille : exploring the historical tradition and the archaeological reality, by David McGuinness, Institute of Irish Studies, Liverpool

Tuesday, March 30, 2004

James Craig, Unionist and Ulsterman : understanding the political leader who shaped the early Northern Irish state, by Christopher Farrington, Queen's University, Belfast

Wednesday, April 28, 2004

Gerry Adams, man of war and man of peace? By Anthony McIntyre, former Republican prisoner and now writer

Wednesday, May 5, 2004

Roger Casement : from British diplomat to Irish revolutionary – the making of a rebel, by Ian McKean, Institute of Irish Studies, Liverpool

Wednesday, May 12, 2004

Robert Emmet, Sarah Curran and Anne Devlin : memory, romance and popular history, by Kevin Bean, Institute of Irish Studies, Liverpool

Wednesday, May 26, 2004

Roddy Doyle and Dermot Bolger : the biographers of the New Ireland? By Bernadette Dyer, Loreto College, Manchester

Venue : Geoffrey Manton Building, Manchester Metropolitan University, Rosamond Street West (off Oxford Road), Manchester M15 6LL (Room 2:30 for the first two lectures; Room 3:32 for the next four lectures)

Fee : No set fee, but a voluntary donation of £ 1 per lecture appreciated.

For further information, contact Burjor Avari, Manchester Metropolitan University, Tel : 0161-247-1023; or by e-mail : b.avari@mmu.ac.uk