Gov. interview with Haver agency. Nov. 16. 1938

The British Eschequer subsidizing Partition

Nov. 16.

Dev. of all the nations in Europe, Ireland is probably the most clearly defined. Its boundaries are unambiguous - the sea.

No solution which does not provide for the political unity of the whole island as a single ~~entity~~ sovereign State.

Transference to all-Ireland Parliament of the powers now reserved to the British Parliament & Westminster

The dismemberment of one country has its origin in a British Act of Parliament

Wors. Insp. Concluding mem. etc.

Nov. 1. Partition & the treaty of 1918

Partition can be ended by peaceful negotiation with due regard to the sentiments & susceptibilities of all sections

Ex. mem. by S. D. Interv. 5.

minority depression & other just representation in the N. Parliament

August 22

The scheme of Partition ignored the national feeling as well as the social, economic & cultural interests of the Irish people

An outrage that one island which is a ~~single~~ historical unit should be divided in this way.

An act of government so transparently unjust cannot endure.

The Six-County area is a purely arbitrary area, cut off by an Act of the British Parliament

Refer to interview on Jan. 26 General - V. Good.

Obvious in any effective design plan Ireland must be treated as a strategic unit.
