

27th March, 1939.

Dear Mr. Barry-Walsh,

Unfortunately I will not be able to be with you tomorrow night as I am still suffering from the effects of the stroke which I had in June last, and I will not be able to get about for some time yet.

Needless to say you have my best wishes for a successful meeting tomorrow night. I trust that the efforts of those who are leading the people of London will meet with the success in every way ^{which} they deserve.

Yours very sincerely,

R. Russell
